

About the Pembina Institute

The Pembina Institute is an independent, non-profit think tank that advances clean energy solutions through innovative research, consulting, education and advocacy.

The Pembina Institute employs a number of different methods to advance sustainable energy solutions, including encouraging Canadians to call on our politicians to amend, retain, change or develop policies and laws which influence the way we produce and consume energy. Due to the Canada Revenue Agency's constraints on the types of activities that charitable organizations can engage in, the Pembina Institute has opted not to apply for charitable status.

We hope that you will support our decision to use a wide array of methods and approaches to advancing sustainable energy solutions by donating to us.

If you need an official income tax receipt, please consider directing your gift to the Pembina Foundation for Environmental Research and Education

(www.pembinafoundation.org), a registered Canadian charity that is a distinct organization from the Pembina Institute. To deliver on its environmental research and education mandate, the Pembina Foundation frequently contracts the Pembina Institute to provide environmental research services.
