Who we are

We are leading B.C. businesses and organizations aligned behind a vision for a clean and prosperous economy and climate action. We believe that strong climate and energy policy provides certainty and is good for business.

Why we are coming together

We are creating this network to inform British Columbians how clean energy policy is good for businesses, to celebrate climate action when government takes ambitious steps towards a clean economy, and to hold government to account when we lag behind.

What we do

We jointly advocate for sound climate policy through public statements and publications.

Our core values

- A resilient, diversified, thriving, and globally competitive economy with opportunities for all British Columbians
- A province powered by clean, renewable energy
- Cleaner air and water supporting healthy communities and ecosystems
- Clean energy and climate policy that leads to a low carbon economy

Our vision of prosperity

A strong British Columbia requires a prosperous economy, where businesses are well positioned to be competitive and thrive in the rapidly evolving global marketplace.

Building on our core strengths and successes to date, we know B.C. can be a leader in the transition to a low-carbon world. We believe the B.C. government should take the following measures to build out the clean economy:

1. Grow clean jobs and attract clean investment

Put policies and incentives in place that spark clean innovation and fuel demand for low-carbon goods and services

2. Make clean choices more affordable and accessible

Support businesses in their efforts to reduce carbon pollution, prepare for the low-carbon future, and invest in clean solutions

3. Build resilient communities

Take concrete steps to protect communities from the impacts of climate change on public health and safety, infrastructure, property, and the economy
